VOLUME IV

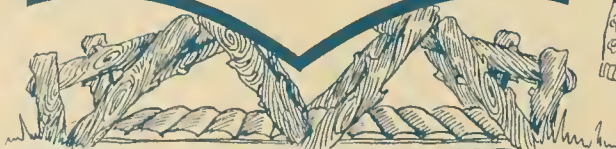

Augusta, Georgia

FOREWORD

This is the fourth Rainbow, yearly publication of the graduating classes of the Junior College of Augusta and the Academy of Richmond County. It is a book of pictures, primarily—pictures and drawings of ourselves as seen by others, with names, titles, and tales, appropriate or otherwise. May it justify the hope of those of the student body and the faculty who have toiled in its making: a book to remain with us until memory has begun to dim, when its pages will serve to recall the friends and scenes of schooldays.

DEDICATION

To

William Redding Kennedy

Senior Instructor in the Academy of Richmond County, as a slight mark of esteem for his many years of faithful, efficient service as teacher of commercial subjects in the day and the night schools of this institution, we respectfully dedicate this volume of the Rainbow.

J. L. SKINNER, B.S., E.E.

Dean

During the absence of President Butler, it becomes my privilege to give here a brief message to the members of the graduating classes of The Academy and The Junior College.

Your diploma is valueless except for the fact that it certifies to the world the successful completion of specific tasks, the accomplishing of which has given you potential POWER: the POWER TO THINK clearly; the POWER TO DO a task better; the POWER TO SERVE your fellow man more effectively; and, above all else, the POWER TO CHOOSE the true values of life.

The way is open before you. Opportunities beckon on every hand. As you leave the walls of your beloved school and face the battles of life, remember that your success will be measured by the use that you make of your POWER.

Your sincere friend,

J. L. SKINNER, Dean.

Sophomore

NONA RUTH BRISENDINE

Ruth's extreme youth makes it difficult to think of her as a Sophomore. She has, however, both dignity and intellectual qualities which have won her the esteem and admiration of her classmates.

Noted: Honor, 1; Education Club, 2.

Noted: Basket-ball, 1, 2; Hi-Y, 2.

CAROLINE LATHAM CHAFFEE

When Latham is mentioned, we instinctively think of Tennyson's line, "A daughter of the gods

Divinely tall and most divinely fair!"

Incidentally she plays the piano much better than a good-looking blonde needs to.

The spontaneity of Mary's personality has caused us to expect daily something new and unusual from her. Her latest outbursts have shown splendid talent in histrionic and poetic fields.

Noted: Class Vice-President, 1; Dramatic Club, 1, 2; President, 2; Chemistry Club, 2; Student Council, 2; Hi-Y-W, 2; Glee Club, 2; Class Poet, 2.

Florence quietly goes her way and gets there! Her calmness, her sweetness, and her dependability are assets anyone should be proud to possess.

MABEL CATHERINE GOODELL

Mabel is one of our most promising teachers—Ho-ho! Just ask Miss Boggs! As for us, we feel sure that her pupils will all love their "pretty teacher" just as we do!

MARIANA HARMON

Mariana has a knack for wearing her clothes well, passing her exams., and getting as much fun as possible out of life. These attributes have caused her to be universally liked.

Noted: Education Club, 2; Chemistry Club, 1.

MILDRED ELIZABETH HOLLEY

How anyone so small can undertake such subjects as Calculus and Physics is beyond our understanding. But Mildred has done just this and done well, too.

Noted: Education Club, 2.

Noted: Class President, 2; Hi-Y-W, 1, 2; President, 2; Dramatic Club, 1, 2; Vice-President, 2; Student Council, 2; Girls' Cabinet; President, 2; Chemistry Club, 2; Ciceronian Literary Society, 1; Glee Club, 2; Musketee Staff, 2.

MARY BETTY JOPLIN

The boys all know how well Mary can dance; the girls all know how cute she is; and the teachers all know what good work she does! That's success!

Noted: Honor, 1; Secretary and Treasurer, Education Club, 2.

ELINOR JACQUELINE KITCHENS

Whenever anyone talks to us about blondes being frivolous we merely look scornful and mention blue-eyed Elinor, the marvel of our Latin class. Such success must be deserved.

DOLLY DANIEL LAMBACK

In our opinion the song, "Lovable and Sweet" should have been dedicated to Dolly. Her quiet charm and poise of manner, her chic stylishness and good looks, have caused the greatest admiration everywhere.

MARIAN ELIZABETH LAYTON

Noted: Sidney Lanier Literary Society, 1; Dalton Chemistry Club, 1, 2; Student Council, 2; High Honor, 1.

Noted: Dramatic Club, 1, 2; Education Club, 2; Glee Club, 2; Ciceronian Literary Society, 2.

HAL STANNAGE PATTON

Hal is our itinerant lad! He hailed here from California and extended his travels with a trans-Atlantic trip during the past summer. His repertoire of experiences makes him a most interesting person.

AUGUST RICHARD PETERS, JR.

August's remarkable musical ability is exhibited in his splendid trombone playing. But, being a member of one of the city's orchestras does not keep him from doing very good school work.

FRANCES ELIZABETH PIERCE

Frances is the best all-round girl we know. She is an exceedingly popular Co-ed, an honor student, and an athlete of unusual prowess. Without exception, everyone loves Frances and is most proud of her.

Noted: Treasurer Student Council, 1; Class Secretary, 2; Ciceronian Literary Society, 1; Vice-President Girls' Council; Hi-Y-W, 1, 2; Secretary, 2; Dramatic Club, 1, 2; Chemistry Club, 2; Glee Club, 2; Honor, 1.

Naomi's name connotes excellency in scholastic attainments. Her lessons alone, however, do not take all her time, for she participates in many social activities.

Noted: High Honor, 1.

ANNA KATE RHODES

Anna Kate's unselfishness and real sweetness are qualities in her which we all admire. And, from various rumors, there are others besides us who love her, too.

Noted: Sidney Lanier Literary Society, 1; Dramatic Club, 1, 2; Ciceronian Literary Society, 2.

LEAH DOROTHY ROSENTHAL

Noted: Honor, 1; Batty Oratorical Medal.

SARAH ELIZABETH ROUNTREE

Elizabeth is quiet and well-poised. She listens and absorbs much, with the result that she does work of unusual merit. Both teachers and pupils alike hear with respect what she has to say.

Noted: Honor, 1; Ciceronian Literary Society, 1; Education Club, 2.

ROBERT HAROLD SHELL

Very tall, very intelligent, and very very good in things military, Harold seems absolutely indispensable. He's equally necessary to history class, drill field, and Annual Staff meetings.

Noted: Honor, 1; First Sergeant, 1; First Lieutenant, 1; Captain, 2; Military Editor RAINBOW, 2.

NELLIE WILHEIT

Five grams artistic talent, 3 c.c. of genuine wit and two very blue eyes placed in a test tube with lots of good disposition, yields (of course) Nellie.

Noted: Dramatic Club, 1, 2; Literary Society, 1; Chemistry Club, 2; Education Club, 2; Glee Club, 2.

AUDREY FRANCES WHITE

Personally, we think Audrey is a GENIUS! Anyone who can paint with such real artistry, write with such inimitable style, talk so interestingly, deserves no less title.

Commencement

*The end,
Perhaps, of friendships
Cherished through long, happy years;
The end of cold hot-dogs and peanuts
Jostled from a hungry hand
By ruthless "Frosh" cadets;
The end of "pop" tests,
Cross professors,
Lectures on manners
That were not taught at home.
The end—
Again perhaps,
Of light affections, that
Given time,
Might deepen into love.
All these things cease
On our Commencement Day.*

*But
It is the beginning
Of a new school,
Beneath a harder, sterner
Master—Life;
Of dreams, of visions
That some day
May startle from its monotonous routine
An unsuspecting world.
Deeds, that but today
Are real,
Tomorrow will be memories,
Some sad,
More happy ones,
Of carefree college days.
New friends, new tho'ts,
New worlds to conquer,
New life is born
The day of our Commencement.*

Class History

WE, the Sophomore Class, having lived in the stronghold of the land of High Schools for a long time, departed thence and entered the High-Hall of Junior College. Dr. Butler, the dear Folk-King, renowned among his people, did greet us, and spake to us of the monsters to be battled. There was Trigonometry, a mighty demon which lurked in darkness, and European History, the fearful marsh-stalker. Over the misty moor came College Algebra; striding, he bore down us. Battle-grim, we took up our pencils and text-books.

John Caldwell was Chieftain of the Freshmen; his courage was known to many, his valor and wisdom. With him we did many deeds of glory, vanquished the deadly foe, and passed triumphantly into the Land of the Sophomore.

Then came the first of our new enemies, the fire-dragon, "A Shorter History of England and Great Britain." The she-demon wanted to avenge her son, "English 51," whom we had conquered the year before in the Land of the Freshman. A fierce struggle ensued, but we returned exulting in victory with Betty Jones as a valorous leader.

As a reward for having made battle-play with the grim marsh-stalker, the King wished us to partake of a banquet. We gathered in the mighty hall, and took courteously of many a mead cup. As a parting gift we were given worthy diplomas, for having struggled as Fate decreed us. We made good our battle-boasts, and now, as Fate has swept away all other Classes, we must after them.

Co-Authors: BEOWULF and AUDREY WHITE.

Last Will and Testament

State: Georgia.

County: Richmond.

WE, the Sophomore Class, about to face the wide and merciless world, urged blindly on by our false friends, the Faculty, do hereby ordain and declare the following to be our beneficiaries, and to them we leave our dearest qualities and treasures here at Junior College.

ITEM I

TO THE FACULTY

To Mr. Markert we leave one axiometric projection of Clifton Black's Tom Cat.

To Mr. Hardy we bequeath one beaded suit, wig, . . . in fact a complete Toreador outfit, with the sincere hope that he henceforth follow his missed vocation.

To Mr. Bryson we leave one whole roll of adhesive tape to recompense him for that which "Foots" Anderson wore in place of socks during football season.

To Mr. Scruggs we leave our concentrated knowledge of Chemistry, hoping thereby to aid him in writing his masterpiece.

To Mr. Read and Mr. Ellis we will one case of Canadian Club Mineral Water.

To Miss Flisch, the male populace of the class leave their broken hearts.

To Mr. Begue, Eleanor Cosgrove wills one German bomb that will not explode in class and shatter his "war nerves."

To Mr. Talley we leave one five-reel, feature picture, of Gilda Gray's harmonic, overtone vibrations to assist him in his class-worn lectures.

ITEM II

TO THE STUDENTS

Marian Bushia leaves her volubility of speech to the incoming Business Manager, to thereby assist him or her in securing ads from hard-hearted Augusta merchants.

To the Belle of the Freshman Class, Katherine Hull wills her daily date during drill period.

Jean Rogers leaves her dramatic ability to Verna Hart.

Martha Murphey bequeaths her unlimited ability to make friends to "Tubby" Watkins.

To the next Class President, Betty "Bell" Jones wills her exalted position, as well as her criticisms and praises.

To Richard Peters, Frank Crawley leaves his worn-out pair of dominoes.

To Robert Rood we leave one campaign cartoon of the Democratic Party to substitute as a photograph on the 1930 football programs.

Bill Zealy wills his flying feet to John Sewell, with the desire that John go out for track.

James Cashin wishes to bestow on Julian Hankinson the coveted nickname—"Nuts."

To Charles Funk we leave one dinner of garlic.

Audrey White wills her artistic ability to Gilbert Bell.

As a first contribution to the Junior College museum, Evelyn McColloch leaves her super-developed brain.

Francis Pierce leaves ten of her extra quality credits to Lee Averett, so he may use them to keep up their romance all through college.

John Folk (being a sympathetic soul) wills Joe Armstrong one Big Ben alarm, with the hope that it will assist him in making a little "time."

John Fanch leaves to Anna Goodwin Dick Wade, as a substitute for their daily walks.

To Sarah Traylor we bequeath one pair of Shetland Pony Shears, so she may completely finish the job of clipping her mane.

Harold Shell leaves his profile to Clarence Cliatt, to assist him in the role of the "perfect lover."

To Arizona Arnett, Margaret Raymond bequeaths her extra avoirdupois.

To Emma Lester we leave one copy of "All's Quiet In The Corridors," by Mary Masur.

Marian Page leaves poor Bobby French.

ITEM III

MISCELLANEOUS

To Wade Mallard we leave the accumulated second-hand chewing gum of the school.

To the Freshman Literary Society we leave the echo of Philip Lazenby's bellowing voice.

To Jack Nixon we donate the total supply of safety pins in Neal Franklin's sweat shirt.

To the Glee Club we leave the permanent services of John Bell's snake-charming tenor.

To the Dramatic Club we gladly give all the worn-out costumes used for past performances.

To the school we leave one picture of "Our Hero," Anson Clark, to adorn forever the walls of "Alma Mammy."

To hurry our departure and theirs, too, we present the janitors with a broom made of Roy McCollum's hair.

As a last bequest, we leave the entire official personnel of the school our heartfelt gratitude (gr-r-r) and a banquet consisting of arsenic salad and hemlock punch.

Class Prophecy

PERSONAL AND CONFIDENTIAL

PLACE: Secluded.

TIME: Very far off.

Linda and I had just finished reading the society column: Your Friends—Where They Are and What They Are Doing. Suddenly we began to wonder. Where were our old friends of J. C. A. and what were they doing? We decided to investigate.

Personally and confidentially—just between us and the Class of 1930—here's all the gossip!

Marian Busbia has cleverly caught the true spirit of "this machine age" in her world-known invention, the "Busbia Bus," famous for its doors which shut and a crank guaranteed not to get lost!

Needless to say, its collegiate-looking upholstery is the work of Mabel Goodell, artist of renown.

Lamback, D. D., having had her Doctor of Divinity degree conferred on her by Dr. Butler, decided on a career of Evangelism. It is rumored that Dolly has proclaimed from more soap-boxes than any other woman in the country!

"What's in a name?" A good bit, say we. It has just reached us that John Folk has created a group of charming folk dances which subtly express the real spirit of grace. The popularity of these dances is greatly increased by the interpretations of Mary Joplin, his attractive assistant. Remember Mary's Terpsichorean skill at J. C. A.? The music for her performances is furnished by Mr. August Richard Peter's popular Jazz-band.

Frances Pierce seems to have taken Stevenson seriously and is at present Traveling with a Donkey. (We wonder who he is!)

Were you alarmed when you heard of that terrible Bolshevik plot to bomb the White House? We just knew a full-grown beard and Mr. Hardy's Political Science would get John Caldwell into mischief! The expert efficiency with which this dastardly plot was put down is certainly of great credit to our First Woman President—Betty Jones.

How about Harold Shell's being keeper of the Kalama zoo? Think of that! Speaking of monkeys, Percy Barnard, now "Doctor," is at the zoo making an intensive study of monkeys and their relation to man. (It is rumored that much of his material was acquired at J. C. A.)

Among the smartest gathering places of New York's social elite is Buist Dowling's "Topsy Tavern." When we were there last week we saw diminutive Georgia Neal enter, clinging to the arm of the tall, dark stranger to whom she is affianced. At a nearby table, visibly enjoying themselves, were Hal Patton, Anson Clark, and James Cashin. Upon investigating the cause of their seeming delight, we saw that the "Famous Feet Sextette," internationally known dancers, had just entered. Imagine our pride upon recognizing Rebecca Baxley, Mary Hughey, Florence Gilchrist, Mary Dye, Inez Byrd and Anna Kate Rhodes!

Harriet Garrett has come before the public recently with her creation of a series of coiffures, known as the "Teety Types," for growing-out hair.

After such chemical success as hers at Junior College, it will be no shock to you to hear of Neville North's marvelous new discovery—a raspberry-flavored lipstick! Katherine Hull is her delicious little demonstrator, and by general masculine approval this justly-popular product has been pronounced a wonderful success.

Apparently we are not the only ones who have noticed the resemblance between Martha Murphey and Ann Pennington, for Zeigfeld has recently secured her talents as an understudy to this shining star.

Now here is a secret!—just between us and the Associated Press—Bill Zealy deliberately disproved all popular belief and is, in reality, that notorious gangster, “‘Worse ‘n that’ William!”

Another record-breaker from our class! Laurens Youmans, like the famous Hannibal, has crossed the Alps!—not by means of an elephant, but by a motorcycle.

Mary Clark, our class poet, has written an inspiring preface to her “Lyrical Ballads of J. C. A.” in which she states that, like Wordsworth’s, her poetry is truly the “spontaneous outburst of emotion.”

Personally, we are really awed by the brilliance of our two Math. students, Ruth Brisendine and Mildred Holley, who have actually calculated the Time, Distance, and Rate of Speed of the renowned cow’s jump over the moon.

Adding interest to the “Nighty-Night” Night Club are the three entertaining hostesses familiar to us as Leah Rosenthal, Naomi Pomerance, and Mary Masur. Frankly, we were not at all surprised, for they always went in for the social whirl in a big way.

Eleanors Cosgrove and Kitchens recently left for Italy to visit Rome and Ruins. Such is the effect of Latin!

Two great research workers of our class, McColloch and McCullum, known respectively as Evelyn and Roy Roger, Jr., are now working on the all-important question, “Why Academy Boys Invariably Eat Doughnuts?”

And, did you know that Nellie Wilheit has acquired a temperament and joined a Bohemian Artists’ Colony? They say she’s still winning poster contests.

And speaking of things creative, Jean Rogers is giving a correspondence course on “Stretching to Grow Tall.” Latham Chafee is a lovely exponent of Jean’s methods.

If you would “Know Thyself,” read the new psychological study of the year: Audrey White’s best-seller, “If You Wana, Why Doncha?”

Two of our students loved their Alma Mater so much that they are still at dear old J. C. A. Elizabeth Rountree has successfully taken Miss Flisch’s place as a teacher of History and other Matters of Interest. Marian Layton, since Miss Grant has gone the way of librarians, is now efficiently managing the library—and woe be unto him who incurs her disapproval!

“BELIEVE IT OR NOT!”

MARY MARSH,
LINDA DAVIDSON.

Alma Mater

Written by ERIC W. HARDY

(Music—Haydn's "Creation")

Dedicated to the Academy of Richmond County by the Class of 1929

*Our Alma Mater glorious stands
By old Savannah's turbid stream,
Upreared by loyal hearts and hands,
Fulfillment of her children's dream.
Her noble sons adown the years,
Have proved their courage, conquered fears,
On fields of glory, honor, tears,
Inspired by Alma Mater.*

*Her last-born sons go forth to prove,
'Mid scenes of joy, 'mid scenes of strife,
The strength of her sustaining love,
Her tested armament of life.
They go at duty's stern command,
On sea, in sky, or distant land,
Led on by touch of spirit hand
Of our dear Alma Mater.*

*A gracious mother, fair and wise,
Ten thousand sons she yet shall bear,
With souls unscared in honor's eyes,
With zeal to do, with will to dare;
And when their well-spent days are told,
From every deed of hero bold
Weave thou a crown more rich than gold
For brow of Alma Mater.*

Classes~The Academy

Senior

EUGENE FRANKLIN ANDERSON

You know "Gene" is on his way when you hear the "put-put" of his motorcycle. If he goes through life as fast as he rides, he will be a quick worker. With his good looks, pep, personality, and ambition we are sure he will make a success.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Captain, 4; Business Manager of RAINBOW, 4.

WILLIAM THOMAS ASHMORE, JR.

The Batesburg-Leesville High School lost one of her most worthy boys when William came to us. He is loyal, a true friend and a gentleman, who never complains about troubles and always sees the sunny side of things.

Noted: Entered 1927 from the Batesburg-Leesville High School; Non-Drill Group.

CHARLES GEORGE BEALL

"Hoggie" is as full of air as a Kansas cyclone. Being a member of Richmond's marble team, he thinks he is a privileged character around school. He is especially noted for asking bright questions during Physics class. We all like him just the same.

Noted: Joke Editor of the RAINBOW, 4.

ROBERT CLIFFORD BEATTIE

Clifford is one of the reasons why Richmond has such a fine band. His ready smile and love for fun have made him many friends.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Band, 2, 3, 4.

RAYMOND EDWARD BEAZLEY

Raymond is a man of little speech and much thought. When he says anything, however, you can depend on it to be absolutely true.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; First Sergeant, 4.

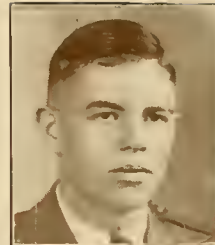

WALTER BELL

Walter, though small in stature, stands high in the estimation of his friends. He is known to be quite a "hawk" on the tennis courts, and it looks as if he is following Brother Gilbert's footsteps.

WILLIAM THOMAS BELL

When we hear the name Bell (Ding, Dong), we think of noise, and Bill lives up to that name. He is strong after his diploma, and we predict success, for such a diligent and conscientious worker always succeeds.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 4.

JAMES JUDSON BENTLEY

"Jud" is one of the most popular members of our class. He is known for his good nature and his wonderful personality. We gather, from what we hear, that he is also popular with the ladies. "Jud" has worked hard and deserves his "dip." What girl has "Jud's" track letter?

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Captain, 4; Track, 2, 3, 4; Captain of Track Team, 4; Hi-Y, 3, 4; President, 4; Secretary of Glee Club, 4; Athletic Representative of Class, 3.

JOHN FRANKLIN BOSWELL

"Johnnie" is quiet, studious, attentive. Mr. Mitchell, for one, wishes there were more like him, even though he didn't get his English 33 book on time.

OLAF WILLIAM BRYNGELSON

Olaf is Richmond's "King of the Ivories." What he can't do to a piano has not yet been written. His many friends in school all wish him success in what we think is a fine future.

JAMES ANDREW CANNON

James's most attractive qualities are industriousness, dependability, and a pleasant disposition. He is also one of the Lieutenants in the Regiment. His favorite sport is riding the girls around in his new Whippet, and the girls seem to like James as much as they do his auto.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Lieutenant, 4.

THOMAS J. CARSTARPHEN

"Sam" has left a burning trail behind him. He has completed his work in three and one-half years. He is well remembered by his favorite expression, "Aw, Mr. Buckner, I don't understand that."

Noted: First, High Honor; Honor, 2; Three Medals in Track; Sergeant, 3.

WARREN COLEMAN

Warren, though quiet in school, raises quite a racket speeding down the road in his New Ford Roadster. It is also said that he never rides alone.

BERTRAM BURDELL DALES

Bert, though small in stature, stands higher in class than many of his friends.

Noted: Honors, 1, 2, 3; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3.

THORNTON DEAS

Thornton "brings home the bacon" each month on his report card, and yet he is certainly not the studious type. His personality has won him many friends, both boys and girls, especially the girls.

Noted: High Honor, 1; Honor, 2; Annual Staff, 4; Hi-Y, 4, 5; Sergeant, 3, 4.

VERNON LESLIE DEAS

Vernon is a Color Sergeant, not a "colored" sergeant. He has a happy capacity for laughing off anything that seems to disturb his peace of mind. We have long since found that it is no use to try to overcome his sense of humor.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Color Sergeant, 4; Glee Club, 4.

ARNOLD JOSEPH DOLINSKY

"Jo," by much hard work, has made his four-year course at Richmond in three years. He does not boast of his learning, but, when results are to be accounted for, he is always among those present.

HENRY THEODORE DROST

To know Henry is to be his friend. He is not the type that tries just to get by. He goes into his work in a conscientious manner, and always succeeds. He is also the "villain" who handles the Military Reports.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Master Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4; Honor, 2, 3.

CARL AUGUST ECKHOFF

"Eckkie No. 1" may often be seen high stepping across the campus to take some poor unfortunate Freshman to Colonel. The reason he is always so jolly, we think, is that he lives to eat.

Noted: Honor, 1, 2, 3; Sergeant, 4.

CHRISTIAN RICKERS ECKHOFF

"Eckkie No. 2," not to be outdone by his brother, also walked away with honors. It is said he is quite a wrestler; woe unto the man who gets under him.

Noted: Honor, 1, 2, 3; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Dalton Chemistry Club, 3, 4; Treasurer of Chemistry Club, 4.

THOMAS DAVIES EVE

Thomas's foghorn-like voice is a familiar sound at the football games. His love for Richmond is readily seen in the wonderful school spirit that he has always shown. We know that the college he attends will receive a loyal student and a hard worker.

Noted: Sergeant, 3, 4; Class President, 2, 3; Cheer Leader, 4; Student Council, 2, 3.

THOMAS JEFFERSON FENDER

Tommy is one of the reasons why teachers leave school. Boy, he "gives 'em fits." With heart and soul Tom backs up the school in anything she goes into. It is rumored that his handsome looks and wavy hair have won many a fair maiden's heart. I may also add his good "line" has helped a lot, too.

MORRIS CRAWFORD FULTON

"Scotty," fresh from Scotland, came to us in 1928. He is liked by everyone who knows him. We believe that he has a weakness for blondes, but he doesn't let this interfere with his studies.

Noted: High Honor, 2; Sergeant, 3, 4; Track, 4; Editor-in-Chief of the Muskeeteer, 4.

ROBERT LEE GARRETT

Bob is a fine student and an all-around good fellow. He is the type that believes in combining pleasure with work. Bob has taken up the game of "follow the ball," or golf, as some of us call it, and they say that he is quite the "berries" at the sport. If he gets behind his game as he boosts Richmond we know he will be a second Bobby Jones.

WILLIAM DUDLEY HAIR, JR.

William is an earnest worker, and his troubles are always the least of his worries. Our class would not be complete without his cheery smile and pleasant word of greeting.

CHARLES RUSSELL HARDMAN

Charlie is always smiling, and has always got a new joke for you to hear. The RAINBOW is much indebted to Charlie for the fine drawings he has submitted. Here's hoping he will draw his way to fame.

Noted: Art Editor of RAINBOW, 4; Glee Club, 4.

WILLIAM ERIC HARDY

Bill believes in the motto: "Use your head and not your mouth." Besides being a popular member of the class, he is a Sergeant of Company "C." He is always ready to do whatever he can for the good of his class.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Platoon Sergeant, 4.

FRANCIS MOORE HARRISS

Frank's name is heard quite often in chapel, the reason being the honor grades which he usually makes. The highest honor that could be shown any member of our class was shown Frank when he was elected Valedictorian. We know that he will succeed in whatever he undertakes.

Noted: Honor, 1; Highest Honor, 2, 3; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Lieutenant, 4; Valedictorian.

ALBERT OWEN HERRINGTON

"Power House" is one of the supporting "pillars" of our institution. He has plugged hard for four long years. He is admired for his philosophical air. Owen has made many friends who will always remember him.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 2; Track, 3; Football, 4; Vice-President of Senior Class, 4.

JOSEPH ALSTON HILL

Alston is one of the members of the "Old Guard." He loves his off periods,—since he is one of Richmond's greatest lovers.

JOSEPH LEROY HOLLEY

Joe is one of the mainstays in Richmond's band. When he leaves here we know it is going to be a hard job to get someone to fill his shoes. The fellows all appreciate his work and his friendship, and wish him all the luck possible.

Noted: Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 3; Captain, in the Band, 4.

FRANCIS MILLER HUTTO

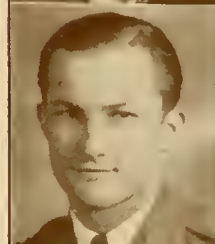

Francis believes in the old saying, "Let a smile be your umbrella." He is always happy about something. He has been a good scholar, popular with the girls as well as with the boys, and a friend to be desired. We are wishing him the best that life holds.

JACK JACKSON

"One arm Jackson" is one of the reasons why we are the National Preparatory Champions in football. He also upholds Richmond on the trackfield. Besides being a "darn good" athlete, he's a "darn fine" boy.

Noted: Vice-President of Class, 3; Hi-Y, 2, 3, 4; President, 3; Sports Editor of the RAINBOW, 4; Best All-Round Senior, 4; Athletic Representative, 4; Varsity Track, 2, 3, 4; Captain, 3, 4; Varsity Football, 3, 4; Sergeant, 2; First Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4.

DAVID HUGH JOHNSON

Hugh's deep voice has quieted many a nervous Cadet during Prize Drill. His famous—"Steady Men," has long been accepted as famous for its effect. His platoon is a consistent winner of the weekly prize drill.

Noted: Honor, 3; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4.

THOMAS BARTON JONES

Tom entered "with the gang" at Old Richmond and has been drifting along ever since, but this year he realized what lay before him and has certainly worked hard. He is one of the staunchest upholders of the school dances and he "sho" can shake a wicked foot.

ITALO LUCIUS LAMAR

Italo is a stellar Latin student, and has done the four years in something like three years. It is said that his bugle practice has disturbed residents around the Reservoir: but, we don't believe everything we hear.

ROBERT MARTIN LAMAR

Robert is always in his place and on the job. His personality is due to his helpful disposition. He stepped out the first and second years and brought in some honors, and we feel sure he will always be a credit wherever he goes.

Noted: Four-Year Course in Three Years: Sergeant, 3; Honors, 1, 2.

WILLARD LEWIS

Willard's honors and the fact he made a four-year course in three years speak for themselves. He is a fine boy, and has many friends who wish him as much luck as possible to make such a fine record in college.

Noted: Honor, 1; Highest Honor, 2; Four-Year Course in Three Years: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3.

REUBEN SIMS MOORMAN

During his years of pleasure and toil at Richmond, although not an honor man, Reuben has been a hard-working and ambitious fellow. Though quiet and modest, he has made many true friends at Richmond.

Noted: Philosophian Literary Society, 3.

MILLEDGE MURPHEY, JR.

Milledge is a talented member of our band, being one of those Saxophone hounds. He is a diligent worker and is striving for things that are worth while. We know that he will succeed in anything he goes into.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Top Sergeant, 3; Band, 2, 3, 4.

SAM L. MCCREARY, JR.

"Aw! Wah! I don't understand that, Mr. Talley." That is Sam. He never seems to be serious about anything. Even in the dullest classes he can always find something to be happy about.

Noted: Four-Year Course in Three Years.

TIMOTHY JOSEPH O'SHEA

Although Jo' has only been with us for a very short time, he has already put his shoulder to the wheel and is working with the rest of the fellows. His many new friends in Richmond wish him success in anything he undertakes.

Noted: Entered September, 1929, from Catholic High School; Corporal, 4.

WILLIAM HARDWICK PERKINS

If Willie goes into life with the same determination as he has whenever he goes into Sc-34 to "Bull on his lesson," we know he will reach the top. He is Captain in the Regiment and has made numerous friends.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Captain, 5.

JOSEPH KOGER PIRKLE

Koger's love for fun has caused him many reverses; however, he is right here with "the bunch." We know he will always be a credit to Richmond, no matter where he goes.

Noted: Corporal, 3; Sergeant, 4; Rifle Team.

PAUL BAKER PRITCHARD

Paul certainly has got that "School-girl complexion." His rosy cheeks are caused by eating his daily apple in the lunch room.

KERMIT ALTON RADFORD

We are indebted to Kermit for some of the fine drawings in the Annual. He has certainly been a great help toward the making of the RAINBOW.

He is also interested in baseball, and we feel certain that he will help Richmond to the top at the end of the season.

Noted: Company Football; Varsity Baseball, 3, 4; Varsity Track, 4; Glee Club. Contributed to Art in RAINBOW.

WALTER CARSWELL REESE

How Carswell can make so much noise and yet be so little is more than we can understand. He speaks for himself. A good student.

Noted: Honor, 2; Chemistry Club, 3, 4; Corporal, 3.

JOE SEVIER RHENEY

Joe can always be found where the ladies are the thickest. His favorite study is the study of the co-eds. In all seriousness, Joe is a fine fellow who leaves behind many friends.

Noted: Honor, 2; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Non-Drill, 4.

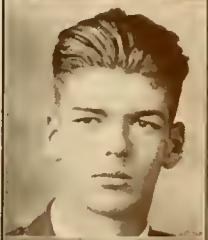

REUBEN LUCKIE ROCKWELL

Reuben stepped out and pulled down an honor in his second year, and this year they say he is going to do it. We all know how hard Reuben works for something, and we know that with his determination he will always make a success.

Noted: Honor, 2; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3.

WILLIAM HENRY SAUL, JR.

William has recently entered. He came from C. H. S., and has already settled down in Richmond with the rest of us. We know he will always be a credit to the old school.

EDWARD CARLTON SCOTT

During his stay at Richmond, Ed has been a faithful worker, never shirking when he was needed to help out in anything. If he goes into life with the same determination that he displays in the classroom he will be hard to beat.

HARRY SHAPIRO

Harry has pleasantly surprised us all in revealing the fact that he is an excellent speaker. He has also made a good record while at Richmond, and we know that he will keep up the good work at college.

Noted: Declaimer, Fourth Year.

JAMES LISTER SKINNER, JR.

James is not only an honor man but also a Captain in the Military organization. James is very active in the school activities. Whenever there is hard work to be done, just call on him, and you can rest assured that it will be done correctly.

Noted: High Honor, 1; Highest Honor, 2; High Honor, 3; Class President, 1; Student Council, 1; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 2; Captain, 4; Chemistry Club, 3, 4; Vice-President, 3; President, 4; Winner D. A. R. Prize for Highest Average in U. S. History, 3; Glee Club; Assistant Business Manager Musketecr, 4.

ROBERT JACKSON BATES SMITH

"Worms" is one of the few boys who has the ability of asking questions even Mr. Talley cannot answer. However, he surely is a fine boy and has made numerous friends at Richmond who will regret to see him leave.

JULIUS BELL SMITH

Julius may often be seen at a local drug store giving the ladies a treat. If all the co-eds like Julius as much as he likes them, something's going to happen. He is one of the most popular Lieutenants at Richmond, both on and off the drill field.

Noted: Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4; Honor, 3.

MAURICE STEINBERG

Maurice is one of the few boys that have ridden with the fast class to the end. He finished his four-year course in three years.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3.

WILLIAM DEAN STEWARD

Dean, or "Little Davvy," as he is sometimes called, has completed his four-year course in three years. This alone speaks for him.

Noted: Honor, 1, 2; Corporal, 3.

HOMER HENDEE STEWART, JR.

Although Homer has not sought scholastic honors, he has many true friends, who are valuable assets. We know he can always be depended upon to help when needed.

EDWARD PADEFORD TAFT

Introducing "Bull Montana," the answer to a maiden's prayer. This is what "Bull" thinks,—but we seriously think he is a mighty fine boy, although he does seem to be the idol of the opposite sex. "Bull" is an honor man, and what he doesn't know about his lessons was left out of the book.

Noted: Honor, 1; Honor, 2; Glee Club, 4; Corporal, 2.

TYRUS THOMPSON

You can always find Ty where the fun is thickest. He is a good-natured fellow, and always succeeds in everything he goes into seriously. Ty, we hope you never forget the old period, the English-33 Class.

Noted: Corporal, 3; Sergeant, 4; First Lieutenant, 5.

JAMES SHIELDS TROWBRIDGE

James is working hard for athletics as well as in his studies. He was very dependable on the scrub football team, and his speed will serve him well on the cinder-path.

Noted: Track, 3, 4; Corporal and Sergeant, 4.

ROBERT A. VOYLES

Bob is one of the "old reliable" type of boy. He is always happy, even in Math. 41.

Noted: Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 4.

AUGUST DORR WATKINS

August comes to us from the Catholic High School. He is one of those boys who believe in having a good time, yet he makes good marks in all his studies.

KENLOCK FAULKNER WESTBERRY

Ken is just a good student and well liked. Why does he always stop at Tuhman on his way home?

Noted: Honor, 2; High Honor, 3; Corporal, 2; Sergeant, 3; Lieutenant, 4.

ALBERT ROBERT WHITTLE

Albert is "a little boy with a big mind." He has proved this by his achievements in scholastic work. We feel sure that he will be successful in whatever he does.

Noted: High Honor, 1, 2; Sergeant, 3. Four-Year Course in Three Years.

CHARLES HENRY WIGGINS

"Wiggy" is one of those rare fellows who accomplish much by saying little. Like "Huck Finn," some day we expect to hear that he has acquired half the door-knobs (possibly, with houses attached) in Augusta.

WALLACE WINGFIELD

His fine voice and keen knowledge of books make him a distinguished member of our class. He is one of the popular members of Mr. Buckner's Math. 41 class.

RAWORTH WILLIAMSON

Raworth is quiet "like a boiler factory." He makes himself known wherever he is. He is headed for the University of Southern California for a college career, and we hope he doesn't pull a "reigel." Good Luck, Raworth!

CLYDE ARCHER WOOTTON, JR.

Some day we will wake up and find "Woot" missing, and will hear that he has flown around the world backwards or something in that line. His weakness is the co-eds, especially the blondes. Since he has been Literary Editor of the RAINBOW we say, "Well done, good and faithful fellow."

Noted: Corporal, 2; First Sergeant, 3; First Lieutenant, 4; Captain, 5; Literary Editor RAINBOW, 5.

Class History

ON September the 15th, 1926, 255 aspiring Freshmen gathered to arrange for their entrance into the Academy. It was their first taste of high school life. They stood on the brink of the Great Adventure and looked down the long trail before them with happiness. Owing to the lack of an Auditorium we had our first assembly in front of the historic Academic building. It was here that we began to realize what a great task confronted us. After Doctor Butler addressed us on the standards of this aged institution, which has stood the hard usage of 142 years, we received our first command. It was to follow the teachers to whom we were assigned—over to the study hall in the old Dormitory. Complications arose immediately. We were initiated into the confusing schedule system that was truly a Chinese puzzle to us. No sooner had we mastered the daily routine than we were interrupted by the removal of our beloved institution to its present site. We can boast of being the first Freshman Class to enter the new building. But this is not our only boast, for this year was the school's first experience with an R. O. T. C. unit. We were fortunate in receiving such men as our Commandant, Colonel A. G. Goodwyn, and his assistant, Sergeant J. A. Leipold, sent to us by our Government. Under their leadership we received the honors of our military career. Soon after getting down to business we held our first class meeting. It was to elect officers. James Skinner was unanimously elected our Class President.

We began our Sophomore year with a new conception of high school life. We had overcome our Freshman timidity; our knowledge of the building and teachers gave us an elevated attitude toward the Freshman. We took special delight in pulling the time worn "gag" of sending unsuspecting Freshmen to the office, telling them that Doctor Butler wanted to see them. Class election soon took place. This time we chose Thomas Eve as our President. It was during this time that steps were taken to beautify the campus. Thanks to Mr. Hardy, who led us so faithfully in this undertaking, we owe our much-improved campus. It was also during this year that we had printed our first school newspaper which has helped greatly in keeping up with the school news. Thanks to Mr. Etheredge for his faithful assistance in this movement. We shall never forget the "time classes" that were held daily, after the sixth period. These were abolished this year for a new system of punishment known as the "demerit" system. Our class was gradually making progress and making the advanced students see that we too had a hand in what went on around school. Our class contributed letter men to every athletic team and valuable members to military and literary work. At the beginning of our Junior year we could not help noticing the absence of so many old familiar faces from our class. Each year a few boys of our class had chosen other courses. But the decrease in number did not alter our class spirit, as we continued our march toward the goal. For the second time, Thomas Eve was elected by his classmates as the "gang" leader.

It is hard to tell which worried us more: the new system of compelling us to make quality credit before we could enter college, or the co-eds that we thought were in love with us.

The second semester of our Junior year Richmond had spring football for the first time. It was found that the athletes of the school preferred spring football to baseball; so the latter was temporarily abandoned. Also, this year, golf was added to the list of our athletic activities.

And now we are Seniors, and very conscious of this fact. After three years of consistent, constructive effort in all the phases of school life, we have emerged to the stage where we feel our importance. But rather sadly we note that our original class of 255 has dwindled away until only 96 remain to receive diplomas.

Many events and happenings of importance have characterized our last year in this venerable and time-honored institution. The first thing of importance we note is the election of class officers. Jack Nixon was elected as our last President. We feel that we could not have made a better selection, as he has been an outstanding member of our class for four years. Many new clubs have been formed, which at first were in the nature of experiments but, later on, functioned progressively and constructively, and now provide entertainment, instruction, and a general tendency toward the development of the different talent of the students.

This year, through the unceasing efforts of Mr. Wells, and some of the students, a Glee Club was organized. We are also proud of the fact that our President, Doctor Butler, has been elected President of the Association of Georgia Colleges. Also, as a reward for his faithful leadership of this institution for the past twenty years, he was granted a leave of absence, by the Board of Education, to make an educational tour of Europe for six months.

Also, we of this graduating class, have remained long enough to see Richmond's most popular sport, football, grow to such fame and importance as to make us able to schedule games with the country's leading high schools. Richmond's mighty eleven entertained the Erie High School Team, of Pennsylvania, in Augusta on last Thanksgiving and later in the season journeyed to Huntington, W. Va., to play the Huntington High team there. The success of these intersectional games has led to the placing of more such games on the football schedule for next year.

These years of studying, battling for intellectuality and culture, and at the same time—for something material upon which to base our life in the future, have left us at a period where we lay aside childish things and begin, with ample ability, to weigh the more serious problems. We look back over our years in high school and see the many improvements that we would make if we could. We would be more considerate in our treatment of our beloved teachers, and show more appreciation of the favors they have extended to us. We trust that we may leave to our Alma Mater a memory of good that time cannot erase.

JUDSON BENTLEY.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the Senior Class of Academy of Richmond County, City of Augusta, County of Richmond, State of Georgia; being of unsound and indisposed mind, nearing the end of our four, five and six years sojourn here and feeling that 'tis "better to give than to receive," do hereby make, publish and declare this to be our "Last Will and Testament."

Item 1. To Mr. Joseph Le Conte Talley, or "Jo" as he is called by the Co-eds, we leave one full-grown German police dog to guard his Lab. Equipment.

Item 3. To Mr. Sutton we leave one thousand bars of Palm Olive Soap so that he may keep that school-girl complexion.

Item 7. To Mr. Read we leave one bottle of Glover's Mange Cure for his mustache.

Item 8. To Mr. Owens we leave one 1921 A. R. C. Annual to show him what time can do for a man.

Item 19. To Dean J. L. Skinner we leave full charge of the school while Dr. Butler is away. One provision however is compelling—that he will not capture Dr. Butler's popularity with the Co-eds.

Item 20. We leave to A. K. Radford one baseball letter which he has tried to earn so long.

Item 21. To Mr. Etheredge we leave one book on the seventy-five-day-diet in order for him to cut his weight down to at least 190 lbs.

Item 22. To Mr. Mitchell we leave his old Lieut's. uniform, so that he may assume his former hard-boiled Army tactics with the Co-eds.

Item 23. To the Freshmen we leave our deepest sympathy for the long, stony, "straight and narrow path" they must tread to be Seniors.

Item 24. To Mrs. Eubanks we wish to leave our appreciation and love for her help and advice, and as a constant reminder of our class we will her a box of all-day suckers that she may live her childhood days over again.

Item 25. To Harold Montgomery, "Uncle Bill's" assistant, we leave one school so he may still have the privilege of "dishing out" demerits, "vamping" the girls, and using his nonchalant attitude.

Item 26. To "Uncle Bill," Mr. Kennedy, we leave a sound-proof typewriting room and 1,000 pairs of rubber heels hoping the same will soften the boys tramping in the halls, and the daily delivery of one bag of P-Nuts, thereby saving him a trip to the lunch room.

Item 27. To the Entire Faculty the Entire Senior Class leaves one box of dynamite to each one, hoping he will walk down a dark hall with a rope across it.

To any student or teacher answering the following questions, we leave one knitted bathtub and Mr. Read's mustache:

1. When does the next period start?
2. Who told Mr. Markert he was cute?
3. When is a good-looking girl going to enroll in Junior College?
4. How old is Jeff Bolden?
5. Mr. Buckner asks, "Who is the handsomest member of the Faculty, and why am I?"
6. Is Morris Fulton really Scotch?
7. Where did Jud Bentley get his permanent wave?
8. Who told Mr. Skinner he could lead singing or sing?
9. Why don't Mr. Smith and Mr. MacDonald buy a wig or hat?

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hand and seal, this 31st day of June, in the year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred and Thirty.

Prophecy

THE warden having overslept his usual afternoon nap, I boarded a plane in Milledgeville, piloted by Clyde Wootton. We flew to Augusta. We made a bad landing on the Campus because Wootton mistook the Stadium for the Lunch Room. After "the people" pulled us out of the wreckage, we stretched ourselves, and, while Wootton adjusted his propellers, I took a stroll through the snow. The old school had grown; there were fifteen stories with bars on the top windows. I walked over to the entrance, and the first person I met was Col. Goodwyn, adjusting his hip boots. Through force of habit I clicked my heels together, came to attention, and saluted. He recognized me at once, because he saw I had a face no one could forget. I learned that he was Mayor of Augusta and he was living in the Mayor's Mansion on Battle Row. I began at once to inquire about the members of the Class of 1930.

And here are the answers he gave me:

Charles Beall and Tom Ashmore are in business together. Their sign reads: Learn to love young; special rates to A. R. C. and J. C. A. students. Information from experience.

Julius Smith has been awarded a medal for bravery. He recently captured an intoxicated man, with only five other policemen rendering him assistance.

Bates Smith is laboring over the problem, "Why the U. S. went dry." We sincerely hope he can find the root of evil and remedy it.

Tom Fender is now a professional boxer, having been taught by Ed. Taft, Jr. He is having a hard time finding someone to box him since he knocked out Sims Moorman in the second minute of the first round.

"Jud" Bentley is great commander-in-chief of the King's Army in Africa and recently defeated one squad of "Polkadots" with only one thousand men.

The Class of 1930 will be glad to learn that this man, Prof. Kerosene, who is setting the world on fire with his voice, was known to us as Hugh Johnson.

Thomas Carstarphen is still in the cigar business. He has combined his business, and his sign reads, "Cigars and Handling Rope." One is as bad as the other.

Robert Rhodes is running a home for disabled cats.

Albert Whittle, Charles Wiggins, Wallace Wingfield, and August Watkins, who disappeared right after class-day exercises and did not return, were recently identified in Milledgeville suffering with brain storms.

Henry Drost has invented a magic fluid that will make the darkest negro as white as snow. He also has invented a machine that will make kinky hair straight. William Henry is his agent.

Vernon Deas and George Serotta form the widely-known "Tanlac Medicine Company." You can see them posing on signboards, Serotta representing before taking "Tanlac" and Deas after taking "Tanlac."

Alston Hill is an animal trainer at the Zoo. He trains monkeys, and his method is unique. He simply hypnotizes the creatures and then commands them to comply with his wishes.

Homer Stewart has cultivated his dancing and is now considered one of the best dancers in the U. S. He has accepted a position as dancing teacher of the daughter of the King of Siam, the coy Princess Sealiona. This should last forever.

Charles Hardeman is in Moving Pictures. He was formerly with the William Steward Studios but has succeeded Lon Chaney at the Paramount Studios.

Joe Armstrong is happily married (to a beautiful blue-eyed girl) and his occupation is star-gazing. He and his wife live on Pike's Peak so he can be near his work.

Warren Coleman has gone on a large hunting expedition into the Congo to capture a very ferocious animal known to man as the squirrel. He also threatened to bring back the hide of a wild ukulele.

Johnnie Boswell is in the Dairy Business. He feeds his cows Excelsior and makes them wear green glasses so they will think they are eating Grass.

Kenlock Westberry and Tom Jones have been appointed Dog Catchers of Augusta. They are now running a Weiner Stand, which is netting them large profits.

Ed Rhodes is at Monte Carlo. He rakes in the cash as easily as he did at Richmond, having learned the art well while he was in school.

William Moore, Burdell Dales, and Francis Hutto are in the grave-digging business. They have a sign across their shop door, "We bury you securely. We have never had a customer who found fault with our graves. We allowed no room for them to kick."

Marcus Bargeron, on account of his ability to tell good tobacco when he tastes it, is employed by the Second-Hand Tobacco Company, Blythe, Georgia, to test all tobacco and cigarette "ducks" thrown down by college boys of Scotland.

Olaf Bryngelson is now one of the shining stars of the Follies. He sweeps the stage after the curtain is down.

William Saul, Jr., is now a man of great power. With one sweep of his arm he can close all the doors of every bank in North Augusta. (The head janitor has him do this every afternoon at 6 o'clock.)

"Tige" Thompson has moved out by a stock farm to restock his line of "Bull."

Owen Herrington, after his wonderful career as an athlete at Richmond, has accepted the very exciting position as Physical Trainer at Tubman.

Clyde Wootton is known around Paine College as "Dare Devil Wootton." Any afternoon you may see him swooping over the girls' dormitory, trying to vamp some of the girls with his graceful tail-spins in his new triplane motor.

Robert Voyles, on account of his smiling disposition, is now posing for the funny papers.

James Cannon is now third assistant bookkeeper to the first assistant bookkeeper for the Eat-More Cafe.

Koger Pirkle and Paul Pritchard are selling oil stock to the Natives of Central Africa. If they keep this up they will soon be on a par with John D. himself.

During the past several years Morris Fulton has contributed editorials to the "Jim Jams," of which he is Editor-in-Chief. But his social standing demands a larger salary, so in his spare time he hangs curtains for the Curtainless Window Company.

Thornton Deas is now training fleas for the stage. He is head of one of the largest establishments in the world for the breeding of small insects. It is said if Mr. Deas keeps up the good work he will soon have a new kind of insect.

Ed Herman, once a jolly youngster, is now in the fish business in Augusta. He is the proud father of eight boys, and he says he wants his boys to receive their schooling at Richmond so they may see why he isn't President of the United States.

Thomas Eve is the head of a medicine show, selling "Snake Oil" to large and enthusiastic crowds. He is also the comedian.

Joe Holley is the leader of "Holley's Recording Orchestra." He is still very modest and says he has put all other Orchestras out of business.

William, Walter, and Charlie Bell, on account of the sound of their names, are ringing for Chapel exercises.

W. E. Hardy, Jr., is a thriving Countryman.

Harry Shapiro, Joe Dolinsky, and Ed Scott are the leading pawn brokers of Bel Air.

Carl and Christian Eckhoff have invented a machine that can make nickels out of lead. A large photograph of them may be found in any public place promising $100.00 reward for their return.

Clifford Beattie has had a wonderful success in life. He is now conductor on "The Tubman Special."

Halbert Barnard is now a Ford Salesman.

Kermit Radford is still running the ladies wild just as he used to at Richmond. He is married and has eight children. He has been married three times and very successful in business, each of his wives having been worth at least a half million.

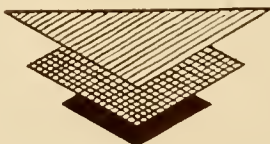

George Conklin is now a barber, and, if he cuts hair as he cut classes, then his success and fortune are assured.

James Skinner has acquired seven languages and twelve dialects. He is now considering teaching Chinese to the Ethiopians of South Africa. We all picked this life for James—Environment.

Eugene Anderson has followed the life we all picked for him, that of an inventor, and he has perfected a boll weevil remover. The machine works on a very senseless basis. It gathers the green bolls so as to allow no feed for the weevil. Naturally the weevil dies as well as the cotton. I saw at once that nothing but a very simple brain could have contrived such a simple device.

Harris D'Antignac aspired to the lofty heights of a statesman, but sudden changes in his after life caused him to take up the profession of a teacher, and at this time he is leading young men along the flowery paths of knowledge.

DONALD KELLY.

Thoughts on Leaving School

*There's a thought that comes a-ringing
To us as we soon shall part.
Both joy and grief it is bringing
As young men in life we start.*

*We grieve because our classmates
And friends we love so well
May move away—to other states—
It's more than we can tell.*

*We grieve because we know it's true
That when school days are o'er
There's a job for me and, maybe, you—
I hope, outside a store.*

*But, then we all are very gay
As we leave the awful grind;
We see in sight Commencement Day.
When we leave school cares behind.*

*No more we'll cheer the old school's teams
As ones that are our own;
But, looking back, it may only seem
Like a dream that has long gone.*

*So, when we think of what we've done
In days that we've spent here,
We may wish that we had just begun
A boy's high school career.*

*In some fair college we may land
When high school days are o'er.
And then, much better we'll understand
Why we might have gone much slower;*

*We'll yearn for smiles of our co-eds
And wish we were back again
Where teachers called us marble heads,
But passed us just like men.*

*Then, as we start a new career,
Let's not forget old days—
The ones we've worked and played in here—
Let's cherish them always.*

JUDSON BENTLEY.

His Dream

He came late, and was not permitted to come into English class. So he wandered down the long halls until he found a nice, cool spot, where he sat himself down to dwell upon deep subjects.

But, alas, he was weary, and fell asleep, and was carried on a wonderful trip on the English 51.

He first came to Composition, where he had to fight against the twelve Problems that dwell in Exposition.

He then came to Paragraph, where the three Typical Situations immediately pounced upon him. Unity, Topic Sentence, Coherence, Emphasis, Euphony, and many other terrors came to the aid of the Typical Situations.

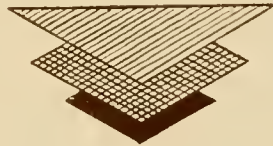

Having, with much effort, finally passed through Paragraph, he came to the realms of Sentence. But, some of the terrors of Paragraph had followed him, and Coherence, Emphasis, and Unity again assailed him, supported by Co-ordination, Subordination, Exclamation, Conversation, Transition, and Participle, Infinitive, Adjective and Adverbial Clauses.

Here he changed engines and continued his journey on the English 52.

He came to the realms of Word, where he was beset by Vocabulary, Etymology, Synonyms, Denotation, Connotation, and the whole tribe of little words, including the Precise, Homely, Learned, Hackneyed, Abstract, Concrete, General, and Specific. Then came the legion of Figures of Speech, including Simile, Metaphor, Personification, Apostrophe, Antithesis, Epigram, Metonymy, Synecdoche, Hyperbole, Climax, Onomatopœia, Irony, and Euphemism.

Then came the greatest horror of all. The terror, Test, came stalking upon him. He gave a yell, opened his eyes, jumped to his feet, and ran down the hall just in time to be late to Math. class.

The Shop

A low rumble of machinery, like the far-off muttering of thunder, an occasional sound of a questioning voice, and the screech of the saw are the first things one hears on entering the shop. At the back of the main room are two benches strewn with books. These benches are high, and shaped like new moons. They are used for tests and lectures. On the left, next to the high windows through which the sun streams, are a dozen lathes. Over one a boy is bending, working on a small, spindle-like leg. In the center are a score of work benches, oblong, with a hand vice at the right end of each. There are half a dozen drawers for the personal tools of each student. On the right are numerous articles in various stages of completion: cedar chests, tables, stools, and lamps. At the rear is Mr. Dasher's office, also the paint room and tool room. At the far end of the room are two large grindstones for sharpening tools. The clock ticks merrily over a big, black cabinet. On the right is the machine room. Beneath the raised floor is a single motor with one main shaft and several counter shafts leading to the different machines: the edger, the planer, the cross-cut and hand saws. There Mr. Dasher, in his blue overalls, is instructing two boys in their work. The outstanding feature of the shop is the interest and "busy-ness" of the students in their work. The boys pay little attention to any one, but work busily at their scarred workbenches until the gong sounds for the period end.

Prospect

I

*Here's to the girl with the auburn hair,
And her eyes of softest tan;
To always remember those eyes and hair
Will be my earnest plan.*

II

*If only I knew that Sweet Thing's tho'ts,
And she could e'er learn mine;
Two tho'ts, I surely hope, would meet—
Most cherished and divine.*

III

*I love to sit and think of them,
Those eyes—that's what I mean;
I love to see her darling face,
And that hair with its auburn sheen.*

IV.

*So let's get down to business,
And I'll whisper in your ear,
That you're the kind of someone
To make any feller care.*

Retrospect

I

*Now listen all you "fellers"
To "The One Who Ought to Know;"
And heed my every utterance;
Wherever you may go.*

II

*These tricky girls are awful;
And they'll "take you for a ride;"
So leave 'em where you find 'em,
If you care to keep your pride.*

III

*Now once I had a "girlie,"
The prettiest in the town;
And within that very week,
She'd played me for a clown.*

IV

*And after this great set-back,
I tried another skirt;
But, before the day was out,
She did me mean as dirt.*

V

*I know you think it's tiring,
And you're calling me the bunk;
But list' ye to my words, O boys,
Before you've gone and sunk.*

The Second Platoon of Company "A," Winner of the First Competitive Drill in 1930, Commanded by Lieut. Hugh Johnson

Competitive Drills

The spirit of competition plays a large part in the development of a cadet corps. Its value is fully recognized by the Military Department of the Academy and Junior College. Prize drills are held between the different units of the corps from time to time.

The climax comes at the end of each school year when two prize drills are held, one being the individual prize drill with six men from each company participating. The prize is the gold Levy medal. Last year Cadet Ernest Madebach was judged the best drilled cadet. Sergeant Joe Moog won second place. The other prize drill is between companies. The Preparedness Cup is awarded the winner. Company "C," commanded by Captain Louis Powell, won this trophy last year.

At the beginning of the second semester of this year, Colonel Goodwyn stated his intention of having numerous competitive drills between the companies and platoons. Each week there is a prize drill between platoons. A banner, to be carried on the guidon for one week, is the prize. Second and third places are also announced. At the end of four weeks the company having the most points is awarded a streamer which is attached to the company guidon for one month. The first of these competitive drills in 1930 was won by Company "A," commanded by Captain Harold Shell. Its success was due largely to the fine showing made by the second platoon, drilled by Lieutenant Hugh Johnson, which won three first places out of a possible four. This competition between companies keeps the interest and enthusiasm of the men at a high pitch at all times.

H. S.

The Value of R. O. T. C.

The aim of the entire course of military instruction which is given cadets of the R. O. T. C. is to develop leaders of men. The powers of mind and the traits of character which distinguish the leader are the same in the pursuits of peace as in the conduct of war. Common sense, good judgment, the ability to estimate the situation, and the power to make a decision, are as characteristic of the successful business man or captain of industry as of the successful leader of troops in battle. There is no other form of training better fitted to develop these essential qualities of young men than a proper course of military instruction; and there is no line of human activity in which individual judgment and initiative find so large a field for their exercise as in military operations. The fact that even the enlisted men of the army exercise their initiative is proven by the exploits of such quick-thinking men as Sergeant York and Sergeant Woodfill. Any line of study developing qualities of leadership in young men is an asset to the community.

After every great war there is a tendency for nations to draw up peace pacts which become invalid when the wrath of these same nations is aroused. Germany's breach of neutrality during the World War is an example. At the present time, many Americans believe that there will be no wars in the future. Such ideas are dangerous to the welfare of the nation. Man has been making war ever since his first appearance on earth. It is best to give a portion of the population the basic instruction in military science even if peace is guaranteed by treaty. The R. O. T. C. gives that instruction.

Our present military policy contemplates a small and highly-trained regular army maintained in time of peace. In the event of war this small force is utilized as the nucleus for expansion on a large scale. Under the National Defense Act our country is defended by the "Army of the United States," which consists of: The Regular Army, the National Guard, and the Organized Reserves. Outside the Regular Army and the National Guard, the only trained officer personnel that will be available a few years hence will be the men who have received training in the R. O. T. C. and the Citizens Military Training Camps. The success of the great citizen armies which will fight any great wars of the future will depend upon thousands of junior officers and non-commissioned officers, for whom only a short period of preliminary training has been possible, each knowing how to play his own part in the game. The function of the R. O. T. C. is to train these men.

The time used by the R. O. T. C. cannot be wasted. The value of military training will clearly be seen if we have any wars in the future. In the happy but very unlikely event of unbroken peace, the cadets of the R. O. T. C. will have been developed physically, mentally and morally. It is hoped that those who are interested in the education of our young men, even from an entirely civil point of view, will not overlook these important truths.

HAROLD SHELL.

Resolution

I

*I'm sick of my geometry,
And my Latin is the bunk;
But this shall be no reason
Why I'll give up and slunk.*

II

*I see old Satan standing,
And beck'ning me to play;
But I'll hold steadfast to my books,—
Myself I won't betray.*

III

*I'll shake my fist in his grinning face,
And curb him at every corner;
'Cause if you ever give him slack,
Right there you are a "goner".*

IV

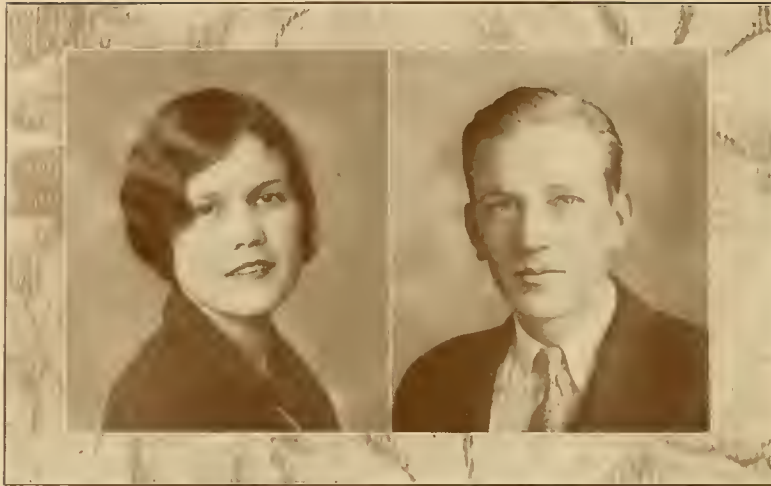

*So, I'll study like a scholar,
And ponder like a monk;
And ever to my books I'll heed,
And ne'er call them the bunk.*

How Jenkins, J., Flunked His Second Test in April

A blistering, Southern sun shone down on the tin roof and gray walls and into the wide-opened windows of Abbott Academy. The air, saturated with heat, was not enough in motion to stir the tousled hair of Jimmie Jenkins, freshman, as he sat, in the last seat of the last row, vainly trying to remember whether Caesar killed Brutus, or Brutus killed Antony. He had been wrong, he knew, in listening to that sorry Tom Banks, when he told him that the test might be postponed, and that the fish were biting in Brier Creek. He had erred grievously when he satisfied himself with Tom's account of the plot. And now he was suffering! The teacher was watching him. He knew it. He could feel his eyes making little holes in the side of his head. Would the bell never ring? It must be 10:30. Something must be wrong with the clock. He decided to bluff, wrote furiously, putting down anything. A large drop of ink landed in the middle of the word Brutus. Tears started to come into his eyes, but he forced them back. If he flunked this test, it meant an "F" for the month. What would his mother say? He blotted, erased, wrote over, and went on: "After Brutus killed Antony, Ceaser made a great speech. He showed the people how Antony was there freind and how Brutus was an ennemy of the people. Brutus and his freind Caisus were afraid they would get attacted by the mob, they left town, hut the mob came after them. After while they come to a place called Philip I" When the bell rang, a weary, perspiring boy edged hurriedly to the teacher's desk, placed a smudged paper well toward the bottom of the pile, and departed abruptly from the room, resolved to make a "D" next month.

Athletics

The New Stadium

The coming year will mark an epoch in the development of athletic history at the Academy of Richmond County and the Junior College of Augusta in the appearance of the new stadium, the newest athletic plant in the city. It has long been expected and awaited as a much-needed asset to the development of athletics in keeping with the progress made by our teams, and it is certain that its completion will be watched with much interest.

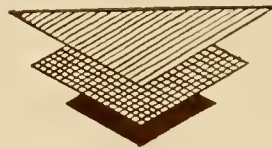

The whole business was started by Coach Gressette in his talk at the Annual Football Banquet at the close of the 1929 football season. He set forth the need of such an athletic plant and gave the push that started the ball rolling. As a result, discussions were begun and meetings held to get the plans before the Board of Education. Finally the plans were brought up and approved by the Board. Contracts are being let at the time of this writing, and the new stadium is expected to be ready for the opening game of the 1930 schedule.

Not only will the new stadium have a magnificent football field, but it will afford a wonderful track. This new field is something that every team has been looking forward to, and with the added facilities the future teams should be able to hold up the standard set by teams of the past and, maybe, better it.

In a centralized spot in the city, the stadium will be erected on the north end of the campus, marking another period of campus development. When completed, it is expected to seat between five and seven thousand people. Adequate shower and locker rooms will be installed.

Dedication exercises will probably be held on or about the sixth of October, when the Musketeers entertain the strong team of Colonel Sandy Beaver's Military Academy known as Riverside.

Review of Season

Faced at the start of the season with the difficulty of building a team around only five returning letter-men, Coach Gressette developed from green material an eleven that was much in keeping with the championship aggregation of 1928. Indeed, the exploits of the 1929 team will go down in the annals of Ol' Historic as perhaps the most memorable of any deeds accomplished by a Musketeer Eleven.

Taking upon their shoulders the task of filling a schedule that comprised seven games, including two intersectional clashes, the Cadets, with an inexperienced team on which there were only five veterans, duplicated the feat of the 1928 team by going through the season undefeated and in addition added to its laurels first honors of Richmond's first intersectional encounters.

The season witnessed for the first time the advent of an intersectional clash and will long be remembered by local fans for its significance in the athletic history of the Adademy of Richmond County and the new Junior College of Augusta. The Musketeers made a name for themselves by repulsing the northern invasion of the Erie (Pa.) Academy by a 13 to 0 score in the feature Turkey Day clash and in less than ten days' time journeying to the north to take another scalp from Coach Hol Sutz "Poney Express" by a 27 to 0 count.

Success in the Intersectional encounters and the ability of the team to go through the second successive season undefeated was due in no small degree to the wonderful coaching ability of Head Coach Tatum Gressette and to his assistant, Ike Sherlock.

The marvelous spirit of the team was a deciding factor in its winning ability and the fine sportsmanship bespoke of the fine training.

The opening game, originally scheduled with the footballers from the Lincolnton High School, and the following game with the Savannah High School were cut from the schedule because of the high water conditions and fear of a flood in the vicinity of Augusta. Practice was somewhat hindered but the opening whistle, October 11, found Richmond's untested team tying up in the opening round with the cadets from Gordon Military Institute. Richmond's offensive clicked beautifully and the drives of Captain Bolden and "Breezy" Wynn, a newcomer, but a veteran in football antics, netted the Musketeers a 47 to 7 favorable verdict.

Coach Gressette brushed up the defensive side of the team the following week and was ready for the Douglas Junior College aggregation's visit the following Saturday. The Cadets annexed the second game by a 25 to 12 score, the game being featured by the offensive work of the "Four Horsemen" of the Musketeers: Captain Bolden, Wynn, Baird and Jackson, with a marked improvement manifested in the defensive strength of the team fast rounding into form. Coach Gressette had discovered a tower of defensive strength in Boyd, Nixon and Kelly, all newcomers.

Charleston High next tasted defeat at the hands of the High School Squad, only Academy Students being eligible in this game. Gaffney High School, with the much touted Earl Clarey and the enviable title, South Carolina Champions, bit the dust to the whine of a 58 to 0 shot from the offensive gun of the Musketeers. The team clicked as it had never clicked before and while the backfield was running rampant through the opposing line the Musketeers on line were charging hard and fast to hold the visitors scoreless. Jack Jackson, dependable halfback of the Musketeers' "Four Horsemens," broke his collar bone near the end of the third quarter for the only casualty of the season. Cliatt was groomed to take Jackson's place.

A hard game followed the ensuing week with Statesboro. The Cadets had a close call but emerged from the battle on the long end of a 19 to 13 score. Clemson "B" varsity journeyed over to hold the locals to a 6 to 6 deadlock and mar an otherwise perfect record. Statistics show the Musketeers had a slight edge but crossing the goal line makes the points. This was the most exciting game of the season on the home field and was featured by excellent defensive work. "Spit" Brown, substituting for "Pug" Schneider, veteran linesman, who was on the sick list, played a whale of a game and as a new comer deserves considerable praise, Boyd, Nixon, Wynn and Bolden were "War Horses" on defense. Captain Bolden behind the perfect interference of Wynn crashed over for the lone tally.

The feature event of the schedule came in the "Turkey Day" clash with Erie (Pa.) Academy. The Golden Horde upset the pre-game dope and took the victory in the first intersectional game of Richmond Academy by a 13 to 0 verdict.

Journeying to Huntington (W. Va.) High School and taking a 27 to 0 victory in the only trip of the Musketeers completed a second undefeated season and added first honors to the second intersectional game for "Ol' Historic." The game was played on a field that was veritably a sea of mud and slush. Captain Bolden and Wynn, playing their farewell game, tore the opposing line to shreds and romped away to cross the goal line once a quarter. Coach Hol Slutz's "Poney Express" was unable to get going due to the stubborn defense of the Musketeers line and "Pug" Schneider's solution of the trick play.

Many familiar faces will be absent from the line-up next year and their places will be hard to fill. With Richmond taking on two or more intersectional games the going will be difficult for the new comers, but Coach Gressette can make a team out of scrubs that could lick any aggregation in this section.

Or what about the North, East, South, or West? Ask Huntington.

Eight letter-men of this year's squad have sung their "Swan Song" on Richmond's gridiron and moved on to other fields. They are: Captain Bolden, Wynn, "Pug" Schneider, H. P. Bell, "Spit" Brown, Arthur Hurt, Gus Baird and Jimmie Nelson.

Basket-Ball

Review of the Season

Starting the season with four lettermen and a bunch of good material, Coach Gressette put out a team that was really representative of the school and which showed a marked improvement over last year's quint. The wearers of the Purple and Gold went through the season of its sixteen hard games and emerged victorious in twelve of the frays to complete a fairly good season on the court.

This year witnessed the organization of the first Georgia-Carolina League. Members in the League were: Richmond, Gregg Dyers, Waynesboro Battery "A", and the "Y" Selects. The winner of the League was to be presented with a handsome trophy and the members of the winning team gold basket-balls. Richmond won the championship of the League by going through the season with a record of five wins against only one defeat and will be presented the trophy.

During the season the Cadets met and defeated some of the strongest quints in this section of Georgia and South Carolina. Among them being: Clemson College "Rats," twice; Wrens, twice; Waynesboro Junior College, twice; Waynesboro Battery "A", twice; Gregg Dyers, twice; G. M. C., and the "Y" Selects. The Musketeers lost games to Spartanburg High School, G. M. C., and the "Y" Selects.

Golf

Recently most of the leading universities and colleges have added golf as a minor sport, and so last year it was announced that we would do likewise. The Cadets were indeed glad to learn of it, and immediately started to practicing with the old "do or die" spirit that has been exhibited in the other branches of sports in the school.

An A. R. C.-J. C. A. Golf Tournament was held by the elimination route. Herbert Lorick won his way to the finals and took the Gold Medal symbolic of golf supremacy in the year 1929 at the school. At this writing the tournament for 1930 is in full blast. Some of the best golfers of the city are in the Academy and Junior College and the tournament is assured of success.

Tennis

During the year 1929 two tennis tournaments were held at Richmond, one for the girls and one for the boys. The girls' tournament was won by Anne Sylvester and the boys' tournament by Eni Griffin. The boys' team was composed of Griffin, Bell, Cohen, Hendee, and Crawley.

Two meets were played with Waynesboro Junior College. The Cadets easily annexed both of these meets to their victories of the 1928 season. Difficulty was experienced in the scheduling of meets, but it is expected that more meets will be scheduled in the coming season.

The 1930 elimination tournament is now on in full blast, and the team for the coming season will be selected at an early date. The large number of entries in the tournament this year points toward a most successful season on the court.

Track Season of 1929

During the 1929 season three records were broken and two new records set. Harry Rainwater broke his own vaulting record and set a new mark of 11 feet 5 inches. Rainwater also broke the broad jump record and set a mark of 21 feet 5 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The Relay Team composed of Williams, Cohen, Bently, and Captain Jackson set a new record of 1 minute 34.8 seconds for the half-mile. Wade Mallard set records of 105 feet 8 inches in the Senior discus and 19 seconds on the high hurdles. Captain Jackson led the Musketeers through the season with three victories and only one defeat. We know in the future that the teams of Richmond will strive to equal the marks set by the team of 1929.

As this Annual goes to press, the Track Season of 1930 is about to begin. Judson Bentley, whose photograph appears on the right, is the Captain of this year's edition of the "Flying Musketeers" and from his past performances we know that he will make us one of the best Captains that has ever led a team for Richmond.

Jud is a star sprinter and one of the best individual performers of the team.

Baseball in 1930

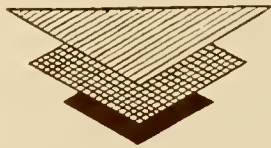

In the year 1929 there was no baseball team at the Academy and the Junior College. Spring football was substituted in its place and gave opportunity to some forty individuals. However, due to the demand for the replacement of baseball as a sport at Richmond, it has been added to the athletic activities of the institution this year.

Practice has already begun and the prospect for the team this year is brighter than it has ever been before. Several star performers of the diamond are in the school and it is expected that the Cadets will experience a successful season on the field.

Due to the undertaking of the school in the effort to build a school stadium, only a small sum was donated by the school officials for baseball. This necessitated the scheduling of only a limited number of games for the season.

Games have already been arranged with the Parris Island Marines, and the Cadets are looking forward to the encounters with the Devil Dogs. Approximately four more games are expected to be added to the schedule.
